Consignment Agreement

The following are the terms and conditions of the consignment agreement between First Comes Love and the consignor: All dresses must be cleaned, pressed and on a hanger prior to bringing the gown in to First Comes Love (FCL). The dress shall be odor free, wrinkle free and pet hair free with no stains, holes, missing buttons, broken zippers and torn seams. Minimal wear and tear may be considered. We ask that all other items, such as decorations, be in like new condition. We ask that all gowns brought in are within the past 6 years of age and in current style.

The consignment contract will last for 6 months and FCL will work with you to agree upon the price of the items you consign. The consignor understands that FCL will sell items at 30%-80% below retail value. You will receive 50% of the price the item was sold at when it sells. FCL reserves the right to reject items we do not feel are capable of being sold.

Ownership of items is retained by the consignor during the agreement period and all consigned items are left at your own risk. FCL assumes no liability for fire, flood, theft, damage, loss or damage of merchandise by accident. While we are very careful and trustworthy, the dresses are being tried on and handled and some wear should be expected.

First Comes Love will attempt to notify you twice when your contract ends or if your items have sold. At the end of the 6 months, you will have 7 days to pick up your items from the store or request a renewal of the contract. After the 7 days your items become the property of FCL and may be donated.

All estimates of selling values are opinion only and shall not be construed as any promise to sell.

I have read the contract in full and agree to the terms and conditions of the contract and I agree to consign my items at First Comes Love.
